Employment Practices Liability Insurance

Ronald Reagan once said: “Surround yourself with the best people you can find, delegate authority, and don’t interfere as long as the policy you’ve decided upon is being carried out.” It sounds so simple, doesn’t it? But every business owner and director of HR knows that hiring the right people and keeping them motivated and happy can be the best and worst parts of their job. After all, people are human and sometimes behave in unexpected ways. And when you factor in a work situation – like people having to be laid off or fired, or promoted, or behaving inappropriately – people can seek legal remedy when they feel threatened or mismanaged. Employment related lawsuits are now all too common – and can be incredibly costly.

It’s not just employees that you’re accountable for – it’s your working practices and methods too. Employment law is constantly changing, so it pays to be protected against loss caused by litigation from employees past and present. That’s where having and Employment Practices Liability (EPL) Insurance policy from Axis Insurance Group makes sound financial sense.

The complexities of a legal battle, arbitration case or regulatory situation can be very stressful and very expensive for an employer. When you're sued by employees for employment-related acts such as failure to promote, wrongful dismissal, harassment, or employment discrimination – even if a suit is completely unwarranted and meritless – you will have to spend money, time and resources to bring it to a conclusion.

Many employers mistakenly think that their general commercial insurance policies provide coverage in such situations. Unfortunately, the truth is quite the opposite and a general liability insurance policy usually specifically excludes employment lawsuits. Directors and Officers Liability Insurance policies for private companies usually include full EPL coverage; however D&O policies for public companies cover just the directors and officers for most employment practice liability claims – rather than the corporate entity. In reality, most EPL claims are made against a corporation, so while EPL is a minor benefit for the director and officers, it is not really a coverage solution. An Employment Practices Liability Insurance policy from Axis will close this gap in coverage and help defend you and your company against litigation and employment tribunals.

Although there are various types of Employment Practices Liability Insurance, policies usually cover defence and compensatory damages. Some insurers also help with loss prevention strategies by providing information on training, assistance with employment issues, loss-prevention tools (model employment policies, procedures, and forms), a specialist lawyer and loss control personnel. However big your company or the potential issues you face, with an Employment Practices Liability Insurance policy from Axis, you can rest safe in the knowledge that you're protected.
